DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US Patent #4,947,609 to CHAMPAGNE. CHAMPAGNE discloses a siding system comprising a plurality of substantially identical siding assemblies (44,64), wherein while being deployed to cover a support structure (ST), the plurality of siding assemblies (44,64) are arranged in a series, wherein the next higher of any two siding assemblies (44,64) of the series is attached to the support structure (ST) at a position which is closer to the upper portion of the support structure (ST), and wherein the next lower of any two siding assemblies (44,64) of the series is attached to the support structure (ST) at a position which is closer to the lower portion of the support structure (ST), each siding assembly (44,64) comprising:

a wall bracket (10) having an attachment plate (12) having a top, a bottom, a first side, a second side, a front surface, and a rear surface, wherein said attachment plate (12) is selectively attachable to the vertical support structure(ST), said attachment plate having a flange (14,16,18,34) which projects outward from its front surface for selectively engaging the next

Art Unit: 3635

higher siding assembly in the series, said wall bracket (10) having an outwardly projecting lip (22,36) extending partially downward from the front surface of the attachment plate at an acute angle to the attachment plate (12), said lip (22,36) extending at least partially between the first and second sides of the attachment plate (12) at a position between the top and the bottom of the attachment plate (12), thereby forming a tab engagement channel (CH); and an associated siding panel (44,64), selectively attachable to its own wall bracket (10) and to the wall bracket (10) of the next lower siding assembly (44,64) in the series, said siding panel (44,64) having a front surface, a rear surface, a top, a bottom, a top edge, a bottom edge, and a locking tab (52,5) in proximity to its top edge for selectively engaging the tab engagement channel (CH) of its associated wall bracket (10), wherein the locking tab (52,56) extends at least partially between the sides of the top of the panel (44,64), and wherein the bottom edge of the panel (44,64) has an inwardly extending substantially hollow channel (HC) having an opening, wherein said siding panel (44,64) is selectively attached to the wall bracket (10) of the next lower siding assembly (44,64) in the series by snapping the channel onto the flange (34) of said wall bracket (10) by the user pushing the bottom edge (60,70) of the panel toward the wall

Art Unit: 3635

bracket (10), wherein after selective attachment of the plurality of siding assemblies (44,64) to the support structure (ST), the siding panels (44,64) of adjacent siding assemblies (44,64) in the series are arranged in a head-to-tail series, wherein the top of each siding panel (44,64) substantially abuts the bottom of the next siding panel (44,64) in the series, and wherein the top of each panel (44,64) is more proximal to the upper portion of the support structure (ST), and the bottom of each panel (44,64) is more proximal to the lower portion of the support structure (ST), see the marked attachment.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2-11 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 12-14 are allowed.
